

OHCHR Indigenous Fellowship 2024 in Switzerland | Fully Funded

Description

Fellowship to Empowering Change-makers in Human Rights

Are you looking for a fellowship opportunity, in Europe that covers all expenses? The OHCHR Indigenous Fellowship 2024 in Switzerland, Europe has recently been announced! This prestigious international fellowship provides a chance to improve your skills and make a difference in the field of human rights. No matter where you are, from you can join this transformative fellowship.

Become a change maker equipped with the knowledge and tools needed to address the challenges faced by communities today. Join OHCHR on a journey. Be part of the global movement dedicated to promoting and protecting human rights worldwide. Don't miss out on this funded OHCHR Fellowship opportunity. Apply today and seize the chance to create an impact!

OHCHR Indigenous Fellowship 2024 Facts

Every year in June/July, international candidates are invited to join the OHCHR Indigenous Fellowship to address contemporary human rights issues. Unlock a life-changing experience with the OHCHR Indigenous Fellowship Program 2024 in Switzerland, Europe. This fully-funded opportunity invites passionate individuals from around the world, proficient in English, French, Spanish, Portuguese, or Russian, from diverse global regions.

The selected applicants will spend four weeks in Geneva, Switzerland, honing their skills to address modern human rights challenges. As a fellow, you'll play an active role in the annual, pivotal event known as the Expert Mechanism on the Rights of Indigenous People. Join us to make a lasting impact in the realm of indigenous rights and global human rights advocacy.

- Host Country: Geneva, Switzerland
- Host Organization: United Nations Human Rights Office of the High Commissioner
- Financial Coverage: Fully Funded
- Duration of Fellowship: 4 Weeks

Who Can Apply?

- Individuals from all over the world are eligible to apply!

OHCHR Indigenous Fellowship in Switzerland Opportunities

This fellowship program, which is fully funded and available, in Europe provides a range of benefits, for individuals passionate about rights.

- Fluency in five languages, including English, Spanish, French, Portuguese, & Russian.
- Return Flight Tickets provided to selected applicants.
- Complete living expenses during the fellowship will be covered.
- Basic Health/Medical insurance will be provided during training.

Application deadline & selection procedure

The process of selecting participants, for the funded UN fellowship in Geneva is quite extensive. It takes into account not numbers but the personal stories and backgrounds of the applicants. The goal is to ensure a representation in terms of gender, region and diverse global communities. What sets this process apart is that it considers life human rights situations, in regions when choosing participants.

A special touch in the process involves previously selected indigenous fellows, who play a pivotal role in selecting 15-20 candidates for interviews in their respective languages. Partner universities also join the selection process for applicants applying in specific languages. Ultimately, an advisory group, composed of dedicated OHCHR staff, makes the final selection, ensuring a human touch and a shared commitment to making a difference.

The deadline to apply for the OHCHR Indigenous Fellowship, in Switzerland for 2024 is September 30th, 2023.

OHCHR Indigenous Switzerland Fellowship Eligibility Requirements?

To succeed in the application for the OHCHR Indigenous Fellowship Program 2024, you need to fulfill the following eligibility criteria:

- Indigenous applicants are eligible to apply.
- No specific age limit is required for this program.
- No formal education worries/restrictions.
- Applicants must demonstrate a commitment to educating fellow indigenous community members upon their return home.
- Willingness to work for human rights is a crucial criterion.

- Applicants must have a good knowledge of the above-mentioned languages to join this program.

How to Apply for OHCHR Indigenous Fellowship in Europe:

To apply for this transformative fellowship, follow these steps:

- Apply online through the provided application form.
- Download the OHCHR Indigenous fellowship application form.
- Fill in the required information accurately.
- Carefully complete your application form and submit it to the given address before the deadline.

Category

1. Fellowships

Author

keerthiga

www.fullyfunded.info