Is this scholarship fully funded or tuition-only?

Amherst Collegeâ??s financial aid for international students is not a fixed scholarship with a standard package. It is a need-based financial aid programme that can cover up to 100% of a studentâ??s demonstrated financial need. Depending on the applicantâ??s financial situation, the aid package may include tuition, housing, meals, and other educational expenses. It is not limited to tuition fees only.

Which nationalities and study levels are eligible?

The financial aid opportunity is available to international students from all nationalities who apply for undergraduate admission to Amherst College in the United States. The programme is intended for Bachelorâ??s degree (undergraduate) students only. Graduate, Ph.D., postdoctoral, and fellowship applicants are not eligible under this financial aid programme.

Is university admission required before the scholarship application?

Yes. Applicants must apply for admission to Amherst College first. Financial aid consideration is part of the undergraduate admission process, and students must indicate their intention to apply for financial aid and submit the required financial documents along with their admission application. A separate scholarship application is not required.

What is the exact deadline and timezone?

The application deadlines vary depending on the admission round. For the 2026â??2027 admission cycle, applicants should submit their applications by the deadline specified by Amherst College through the official admissions portal. Deadlines are generally listed as 11:59 PM in the applicantâ??s local time zone.

Applicants should verify the latest deadline and timezone information on the official Amherst College Admissions website before submission.

Is there an application fee?

www.fullyfunded.info

Yes. Amherst College has an undergraduate application fee. However, applicants who demonstrate financial need may request an application fee waiver through the application platform. International students should check the latest fee and waiver eligibility details on the official Amherst College admissions website before applying.
